VOL. VIII NO. 243.

CHICAGO, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1902.

PRICE 5 CENTS

M'CHESNEY A GREAT COLT.

McChesney is certainly the best three-year-old by many pounds that has run here this year. He won the Phoenix Handicap in a big canter yesterday at Worth, conceding big lumps of weight to every horse that started against him.

The stake was a sweepstakes, for three-year-olds at one and a sixteenth miles, with $1,500 added. Of the ten scheduled to start, four dodged the issue, but the adding of Marque, to carry ninety-five pounds, at the last moment, sent a field of seven to the post. The Durnell & Herz entry, consisting of McChesney and Caliban, was made a 7 to 10 favorite, at which price it was backed generously. To a good start Wainamoinen at once dashed to the front, with Lacrimae second and Hoodwink third. In the first half McChesney was placed along in fifth position, but within easy distance of the leaders. Wainamoinen continued in the lead until well straightened for home, where McChesney took command easily at call and won as his rider pleased from his stable companion, Caliban, by one length, the latter beating Bragg two for second place. Caliban, outrun in the first half, moved up fast thereafter and easily passed all the other horses when coming down the stretch, but the winner, Bragg was out off slightly in the last eighth, but got through in time and finished strongly. Wainamoinen displayed keen speed, but tired fast in the last furlong. Hoodwink ceased to be a serious contender after six furlongs had been run. Lacrimae showed a little early speed. The stake was worth $1,730 to the winner.

The third race, a dash of one mile for three-year-olds and upward, resulted in a spirited finish between Waswift and Lucien Appleby, the former winning by a head with J. V. Kirby an indifferent third. The last named led on suzerainty until well into the last quarter where Waswift passed him easily, but in the last sixteenth Lucien Appleby moved up on Waswift, causing Dean to ride out the latter. Lucien Appleby finished resolutely but could not quite reach. J. V. Kirby tired fast in the last sixteenth struggle. Flying Torpedo ceased to be a factor after six furlongs had been run.

The day's opener, a dash of six and one-half furlongs for all ages, went to Annie Thompson. She led from start to finish, winning in a stirring drive by a head from Evelyn Byrd, which beat Banter one and one-half lengths for second place. Evelyn Byrd closed up fast on the winner in the final eighth and finished stoutly, but could not quite get up. Banter faltered slightly when turning for home, but recovered quickly and finished strongly. Lime-light ran a good race, considering the weight he carried. Judicious, heavily backed by the talent, was never a serious contender.

Another close finish occurred, following that of the first race, The Don beating The Crisis by a head in a spirited last sixteenth struggle, with Laura F. M. third, three lengths back. It was a six furlongs scramble for two-year-olds. The Crisis held what appeared to be a winning lead until the last eighth had been reached, where The Don steadily closed up on him and contested every foot of the last sixteenth. Laura F. M. tired slightly when put to a hard drive. Foxy Kane had enough after five furlongs had been reached. Diamante was never in the hunt.

One of the closest and most exciting finishes of the year took place in the fifth race, a dash of six furlongs at high weight for all ages. A blanket could almost cover seven of the field of nine as they passed under the wire. C. B. Campbell, finishing strongly on the outside, won by a short head, with Money Muss the same distance before MacGyle for second place. Money Muss ran a good race and stood a long stretch drive gamely. MacGyle was pocketed almost through the entire last quarter, but would not be denied and finished with a rush. Duelist, off badly, was probably the best.

He made up ground fast in the last half, but was hopelessly pinned in against the inside rail in the last eighth struggle. Floccarine's race was excellent when the weights are taken into consideration. Alice showed early speed, but tired fast by the time the head of the stretch had been reached.

In the closing race of the day, a dash of one mile and seventy yards for three-year-olds and upward, Scotch Plaid showed himself to be a game thoroughbred. He went to the post stiff and sore, but raced out of it and outstayed Obsolete Simon in a gruelling last sixteenth struggle winning by the shortest of heads. Compass finished third two lengths back. Whitcomb showed early speed and is worthy of consideration in a cheaper field. Wyola was all entangled at the start and made up ground too fast while going down the back stretch, leaving her nothing to finish with.

The track was in good condition and fair time was made. The usual large crowd was present and the betting the heaviest since the opening. Out of twelve races run at Worth during the last two days ten have resulted in close and exciting finishes, a neck or head separating the first two. No better racing has been seen hereabouts this year.

LOCAL TURF GOSSIP.

Mr. Herz of Durnell & Herz offered S. C. Hildreth $8,000 before the third race for Lucien Appleby. Mr. Hildreth refused the offer, but said he would sell the horse for $10,000. Before the horses went to the post Mr. Herz agreed to give Mr. Hildreth the purse or any part thereof that Lucien Appleby might earn if he would consent to the transfer at Herz's figure. Mr. Hildreth, however, remains steadfast and will not part with the horse for less than $10,000. C. R. Ellison is another owner who is willing to give $8,000 for the son of St. George.

Secretary Jasper's adjustment of the weights in the highweight handicap was productive of a finish seldom equaled on a race track. The first seven horses being heads apart when crossing the wire.

S. C. Hildreth offered to sell C. B. Campbell before the fifth race for $2,000.

Brigadier and Burnie Bunton are both reported to be very sick horses with but a slight chance that the former will recover.

Scotch Plaid, which won the last race, appeared, while walking in the paddock before the race, to be on the verge of breaking down. The bookmakers' runners, who noticed him, quickly informed their employers of this state of things and the result was that the horse receded in the betting to 5 to 1 from his opening price of 2 to 1. At the latter price Durnell & Herz backed him and forced the price down a point. The horse ran a surprisingly game race and won by the narrowest margin possible. After the race it was with difficulty that he could be led back to his stable.

J. U. Strode arrived in Chicago yesterday from Texas with Prowl, Henry of Trastamare, St. Tammany, Bohul, and others.

T. H. Murphy wired Secretary Jasper from New York to reserve stable room for two horses due to arrive here today.

EASTERN RACING GOSSIP.

"It was reported at Morris Park yesterday that the members of the State Racing Commission had been informed by persons identified with the administration at Albany that in view of the heavy betting operations that have been going on at race tracks in this state it would be advisable to take measures to curtail speculation in future as much as possible. It was further stated that the Racing Commission had sent a communication to The Jockey Club to this effect and that the stewards of the latter body will, from now on, frown on all such operations as those conducted by the 'Big Store,' the name given to the book conducted by Joe Ullman and Kid Weller. While The Jockey Club never has openly recognized betting at metropolitan tracks, it will be an easy matter to control affairs in the various betting rings through the medium of the racing associations which let out the privileges to the bookmakers," says the New York Sun of Wednesday.

"With 20,000 persons at the Westchester track yesterday there was not a sign of disorder until the races were over. Then there was a fight in the rear of the grandstand which caused considerable excitement. The participants were jockey Landry and a horse owner named Van Praag. The latter cornered Landry near the main entrance and proceeded to rain blows on the jockey's face, at the same time yelling:

"If you do not stop talking to my wife, I'll kill you!"

"When bystanders separated the combatants, Landry had a black eye and a bleeding mouth. The jockey immediately hunted up Robert Pinkerton and wanted to have Van Praag arrested. Pinkerton advised the jockey to go before the stewards of the meeting today and prefer charges against his assailant.

"Grey Friar's victory in the first part of the Matron Stakes was decidedly popular. Those who study past performances did not let the son of St. George—Una B. get away from them. It was at Saratoga that Grey Friar demonstrated the fact that he is one of the best two-year-olds of the year. He first started in a dash of five and a half furlongs on August 6, and with 107 pounds he disposed of Catechise and Glennevis. He started on August 13 in the Troy Stakes and was second to the winner, Plater, finishing in front of an excellent field. Grey Friar won the Grand Union Hotel Stakes on August 20, carrying 114 pounds, and beating, among others, Judith Campbell, Whitechapel, Sailmaker, Maxnie, Charles Elwood and Rigodon. In the Albany Handicap, run on August 27, Grey Friar took up 117 pounds and won easily, beating Eugenia Burch, Counterpoise, Sailmaker and others. With three victories in four starts he was played yesterday very strongly in the place books.

"The defeat of Acefull was particularly disappointing to John E. Madden. After the race Madden said:

"Acefull ran a good game race, but was beaten fairly as far as I could see. I have not decided whether he will be sent to England to run in next year's Derby and will not do so until I have consulted with Messrs. Whitney and Duryea, who sail for this country on the Oceanic to-morrow."

"The fact that Grey Friar gave Acefull five pounds according to the scale and an impressive beating, caused turfmen to reach the conclusion after the race that Mr. Hitchcock has the champion two-year-old of the season. Grey Friar was bred by P. T. Chinn and is every inch a racehorse in appearance. He has several other engagements this fall in which to display his worth.

"O. H. Chenault, in behalf of the American Breeders' Protective Association, has purchased thirty-one mares that were passed out of the ring at the Fairview Stud sale on Monday, and they will be gradually sold to persons who will agree that they will never be used for breeding purposes again.

"S. S. Brown sold Mabel Winn yesterday to a turfman whose name was not made public.

"J. E. Seagram's horses will remain at Toronto until the Aqueduct meeting.

"L. V. Bell's three-year-old colt, Colonel Bill, came near winding up his turf career yesterday. Just after the first race he was sent out to work over the hill. The Eclipse course had been railed off and the boy who had the mount did not see the obstruction until he was within fifty yards of it. Colonel Bill was going at top speed, but the boy pulled him up quickly and steered him for a small opening about four feet wide, through which he passed in safety. It was a narrow escape for the colt and the boy."

GOSSIP OF THE TURF.

Horsemen around town find time to whisper something concerning the alleged "throw down" of the New York Press Club's Cemetery and Hospital Committee by the official turf interests. The Press Club sanctioned the announcement early in Gravesend's final week of a day's racing at Morris Park on October 6, the receipts to go to the club's cemetery and hospital fund. James R. Keene, vice-president of the Jockey Club, commended the project and promised the use of the course on the particular day chosen by the Press Club representatives. A few days later the Press Club declared there would be no racing at Morris Park on the off day under its auspices. Some one said the Press Club people were "appalled at the magnitude of the undertaking," but the real reason of the Press Club's withdrawal from its proposition, according to the gossip of turfmen today, is that the Jockey Club refused the use of Morris Park. The Jockey Club thought twice. It is hinted that the Jockey Club is averse to letting the public know exactly the amount of a metropolitan race track's earnings per day, which of necessity would be divulged were the Press Club people to take hold for a day. It is information of this character which the avowed enemies of racing under the indulgence of the Percy-Gray law are desirous of obtaining. They say the official "blue books" sent out by Racing Commissioner John S. Sanford do not give just what they want.—N. Y. Evening Sun.

The Nursery Handicap will be run at Morris Park tomorrow. It is a valuable stake and its decision is fraught with interest to Chicago patrons of racing for the reason that it will probably bring about the debut of Dick Welles in select eastern company. The weights are as follows:

The program book for the fall meeting of the Latonia Jockey Club is out. The Latonia meeting is to begin on Saturday, October 25, and will continue 25 days, Sundays excepted. The purses on regular days will be $400, and on extra days $300. Secretary Hopper will also put on overnight handicaps for the higher class animals, for which the purses will be $500 or better. There are now over 150 horses quartered at the track, and at least 300 more will be on hand before the bugle call is heard on the opening day.

A feature of the meeting will be the reopening of the beautiful steeplechase course for cross-country racing. Latonia prides itself on having the most beautiful course of this kind in the west, and the management of the track expects some grand racing over it this fall, as the best of jumping material will be here to participate in the events to be given twice each week.

GOSSIP OF THE TURF.

The starting will be done by J. J. Holtman and Richard Dwyer for the first week of the meeting. They will then go to California for the winter, and J. Murray, who formerly acted as assistant to C. J. Fitzgerald at New Orleans, will succeed Holtman and Dwyer to handle the flag for the remainder of the meeting. C. F. Price, the new manager of the Louisville Jockey Club, and Col. Jack Price, of Chillicothe, will be in the judges' stand.

It was chiefly through Mr. Featherstone's liberality that O'Connor was able to buy Gold Heels. The western turfman has not only rewarded the lad liberally for his excellent services as rider of the Featherstone string, but has taught him how to save his money. All good jockeys can make big fees, but few have had O'Connor's good fortune in falling into the hands of men who make them put something by for a rainy day. Mr. Featherstone has been a father to O'Connor and a good one. Nothing riles the generous westerner so quickly as an adverse criticism of O'Connor's conduct.

THOROUGHBREDS SOLD.

Twenty-nine thoroughbreds, brought from England recently, were sold at auction in the American Horse Exchange, New York, Tuesday night. They were consigned by Douglas H. Grand of Beckenham, Kent, England, and all except four are English bred. These four are American-bred horses and were sent to England when yearlings. They have been fairly successful, and one of them, Omaha II., by Watercross, was the star of the sale, bringing $4,000.

Mr. Grand conducted the sale himself, and occasionally he got mixed in the bids, calling guineas instead of dollars. His way of telling about the horses was a little confusing. When the yearlings were sold he announced that not one had been "backed," meaning that they were untried. The yearlings were the first lots disposed of. A black colt by Kilwarlin was bought by W. Lakeland for $1,650. L. V. Bell gave $1,500 for a bay colt by Sir Hugo, the Derby winner, out of a St. Simon mare. The sixteen yearlings averaged $353.

Ten horses in training were sold and they brought $10,775. H. M. Ziegler was a big buyer, securing six. The Rancocas Stud got the lowest priced horse in the sale, a two-year-old filly by Kilwarlin, for $100.

Eight stallions were catalogued, but only three were sold. Good Morning, by Gallinule, was bid up to $3,900 and then withdrawn. Tanzmeister, by Saraband, was next offered, but only $950 was bid and he followed Good Morning. Resolute II., a son of the Australian stallion, Trenton, was withdrawn after $1,600 had been bid. Brood mares and weanlings will be sold tonight. The sales were:

GOLD HEELS.

Looked at from any point of view one cares to take, Winnie O'Connor's investment in Gold Heels was a good one. The winner of the Suburban and Brighton Handicaps and of the Brighton Cup is a cheap horse at $8,500, even if he never gets to the races again. He has done this year what few horses have done in this country—that is, take up top weight and win two of the best handicaps of the year. Kinley Mack's triumphs in the Brooklyn and Suburban of 1900 were not greater than Gold Heels'. The mighty son of Islington and Songstress met a first-class and highly seasoned field in the Suburban, but it did not beat much in the Brooklyn. Old Imp was his most formidable opponent in the great Gravesend race, and the conditions were against her. Not being an early horse, she was not up to her best form and the track was muddy.

Gold Heels is a horse very much on the Kinley Mack order. He has neither the size nor graceful proportions the great son of Islington had when in training. He is a small, stockily built colt, with a big barrel. But he possesses the same even disposition, and, like Kinley Mack, is both a sprinter and a stayer. He can hold his own at three-quarters with the quickest-footed short distance performers, and he can stay two miles and a quarter with the stoutest long distance champions. The field he beat at Westchester last year under scale impost in the Morris Park weight-for-age race, was the best seen in these parts in twenty years. Every horse that started had a brilliant record, and they were all fit. Water Color, the winner of the Brighton Derby and the Century Stakes; Blues, the winner of the Second Special; Latson, the winner of the Municipal Handicap; Imp, the winner of a Suburban; Advance Guard, and Maid of Harlem, the winner of the Annual Champion race, were among the horses that chased him home. He beat them like a good horse, too. He stood a stiff pace from the start and ran through the stretch with unflinching courage.

Metropolitan trainers differ in opinion as to the possibility of getting Gold Heels to the races again. He has a bowed tendon, unquestionably, but the bow is not a very bad one. Matt Allen, the man who picked him out two years ago, in defiance of the opinion of the alleged experts of the east, and made a champion of him, believes that with proper care and treatment he will stand training again. Mr. Allen says the colt is sound in other respects and ought surely to get over this trouble. Walter Rollins, the genius who saw promise in Herbert and gave $200 for the Albert colt as a yearling, when nobody else would make a bid, is of the same opinion.

Billy Lakeland and others take the other view. They would all like to see Gold Heels "come back," but they contend that not one horse in ten with a bowed tendon recovers his form.

One thing is certain, Ed Graves, the man who took charge of the stout little son of The Bard and Heel and Toe after he was knocked down to O'Connor, will bring him safely to the races next year if the thing is possible. Mr. Graves is a past master of the delicate art of doctoring cripples and making them run like stake horses. He took Heliobas, after Albert Featherstone's trainer, Julius Bauer, had pronounced him a failure because he happened to be wind broken, and made a great sprinter of the Farandole horse. This is not intended as a reflection on Mr. Bauer. Mr. Featherstone's string was so strong at the time in horses sound as to wind and limb. Mr. Bauer could not spare the time required to bring Heliobas out. Mr. Graves will also have the time this winter and next spring to devote to the task of restoring Gold Heels. He will pursue the same course Mr. Allen followed last winter and spring. He will not run risks in the early spring, but will allow Gold Heels to take things comparatively easy until the Sheephead Bay June session. He may not start him in the Suburban Handicap, but reserve him for the Advance, which, as already related, he won last summer. The Advance is a gallop of one mile and a half, for a purse of about $3,000, and Gold Heels has always shown a liking for a distance of ground.

If Gold Heels gets to the races next season he will carry the colors of O'Connor & Co., a canary jacket crossed by scarlet sashes and topped by a scarlet cap. Maltster has been running under these silks all summer. The firm of O'Connor & Co. consists of Frank O'Connor, a brother of Winnie, and Winnie's uncle. Winnie put up most of the money from his earnings these last few years as a rider of the Featherstone stable. He cannot own the horses himself, because jockeys are not permitted to own horses as a general thing under the Rules of Racing. If O'Connor owned horses himself, by permission of the Judges' Club, he could not under the Rules of Racing ride any except his own. The Jockey Club, it will be remembered, put such restrictions on John J. McCafferty six years ago, when the popular Texan owned a stable and regularly took out a jockey's license.

If Gold Heels fails to race again he will probably be retired to Kenmore farm, the place leased a couple of years ago by Albert Featherstone, and the present home of the stallion Previous, one of the best two-year-olds of the season of 1897 and a four-year-old of quality in 1899. Mr. Featherstone has plenty of room for Gold Heels at Kenmore Farm and would be delighted to do anything he could to accommodate Winnie O'Connor. He and Julius Bauer took O'Connor out of Father Bill Daly's hands several years ago and made a finished jockey of him. Daly had already done the rough work, and he had done it well. No man is better qualified than the Sage of Hartford to put a boy, ambitious to become a jockey, through his early paces. O'Connor is the best graduate of his kindergarten since Snapper Garrison's time. He had a bit of hard luck through the summer and lost some of his popularity, but he has been doing good work since coming back from Saratoga and is rapidly regaining favor again.

Gold Heels has had a varied and interesting career. He was bought by the Hon. W. C. Whitney as a yearling and turned over to the clever but hopelessly erratic Sam Hildreth to be developed. He spent a winter in the destructive Wheatley Hills climate which has put so many of Mr. Whitney's famous horses out of business, and came through unscathed. He was, however, a failure as a two-year-old in the spring of 1900. Hildreth tried to rush him into condition too early and he could not stand being rushed. When Mr. Whitney decided to discharge Hildreth from his employ Hildreth appealed to him for a horse or so with which to begin business on his own hook. Mr. Whitney told him to pick out a two-year-old and take him for a nominal price. Hildreth's choice fell upon Gold Heels and Mr. Whitney let him have the stout little son of The Bard—Heel and Toe for $1,200. In a fortnight's time Hildreth had sold Gold Heels to Dave Sloan for $2,500. Who Sloan's angel was did not develop. Gold Heels did not have many stake dates, but Sloan picked a number of purse races and handicaps for him and he wore himself out before the season was over.

It was because Gold Heels did not win any of the big two-year-old stakes, that the smart folk overlooked him and ridiculed Mr. Allen, when, acting as the agent of Gen. F. C. McLewee and James Brady, he bought the colt for $7,500. Bonniert, the winner of the National Stallion race at Morris Park and several important stakes at Saratoga, had just been knocked down to Frank Farrell for $8,100, and it was said that if Gold Heels was worth $7,500, the Albert two-year-old was worth $50,000.

When Mr. Allen heard of this he offered to bet $1,000 that Gold Heels would beat Bonniert the first time the two colts came together as three-year-olds. No one took the Tennessee turfman up, but Gold Heels beat Bonniert the first time they met. It was in a race of one mile and a furlong at Brighton Beach in July, 1901. The colt by The Bard beat the colt by Albert all the way.—Daily America.

Winner—Ch. f. by Tammany—Wood Violet (trained by H. McCarren, Jr.).

Went to post at 2:34. At post 3 minutes. Start good. Won easily; second handily. Nellie Bawn was a much improved horse today, showed fine speed throughout and won as her rider pleased. King Tatus was given a poor ride, thrice cut off and taken the long way, but finished fast under the whip. Dandy Jim tired in the stretch run. Russian ran to the mark. Russellton is best in mud.

Winner—B. f. by Sir Dixon—Lake Breeze (trained by J. C. Cahn).

Went to post at 3:25. At post 6 minutes. Start poor. Won driving; second the same. South Breeze recovered form all at once, was off badly, trailed the field to the stretch, then came with a great rush and won in the last stride. Buccleuth appeared like the winner to the last one hundred yards, but South Breeze's rush caught him napping. Edgardo ran a good race and finished strongly. Bill Massie and Prosper La Gai were themselves out racing in front. Schwabbe, off badly, never got in her stride, was twice cut off and pocketed, lost five lengths on the first turn and by no means ran her race. Jordan and Brulare ran poorly.

Pennant showed much improvement, was cut off at the three-eighths post and came fast in the stretch. Caelana ran an extra good race, but tired at the end. Happy Chappy ran a dull race. Barnacle closed up well in the stretch. King's Lady showed a flash of speed, then gave way. Ed Layson and Ma'mselle favor mud.

Winner—Ch. g. by Tammany—Rose (trained by J. Hynes).
Went to post at 2:00. At post 2 minutes. Start straggling. Won handily; second driving. St. Finnan came away strongly after being close up from the start and was best. He likes this track and can beat better horses over it. Ondurdus is genuinely improved, forced the pace throughout and held on gamely, but was lucky to beat Belle of Lexington. The latter got away badly, closed a big gap on the level stretch at the end and finished with a rush. Schoharie was not good enough at the weights, failed to run up to recent work and evidently disliked the incline. Sweet Billie tired after going a good half. Scratched—35571 Young Henry, 115; (35529) Trinity Bell, 105; 35480 Star of the West, 97.

Winner—Ch. f. by Ormus—Leonell (trained by J. F. Smith).
Went to post at 2:30. At post 4 minutes. Start bad. Won driving; second the same. Christine A., a greatly improved filly, ran a fast and game race and finished with a rush. Gold Money forced the pace throughout and stuck to her work remarkably well and will do better over a longer route. Sparkle Esher, a slow beginner, picked her way through the big field, closed a big gap and was going fastest of all at the close and probably was best today. Futurita made up a tremendous space of ground from a bad start and evidently likes the Eclipse course. Navasta displayed her usual brilliant speed, but failed to stay and should improve. Lady Josephine failed to come on at the end, swerving badly. Ada Nay received a bad looking ride and can beat this kind. Merry Reel quit in the last furlong.

Scratched—35509 Princess Tulane, 110; 35128 Sweet Nel, 105; 35128 Rosewater, 105.

Went to post at 3:00. At post 2 minutes. Start good. Won driving; second easily. Colonel Bill, under a stiff pull, indulged the pacemaker to the stretch, where he drew clear an apparently easy winner, but unexpectedly tiring at the end was driving to beat Igniter. The latter finished with a rush and shows steady improvement. Oom Paul trailed the field and caught Grand Opera tiring, after the latter had made the running for the greater part of the journey. Extinguisher was outclassed but ran a good race.

Went to post at 3:25. At post 10 minutes. Start straggling. Won driving; second the same. Wealth, suddenly improved, lucky and skillfully handled, made good with a brilliant stretch run and won drawing clear. Unmasked worked a rough passage and, with clear sailing in the stretch, finished like a whirlwind and is in great form just now. Belle of Troy finished fast, always showed a preference for this track and should win soon. Dublin broke flatfooted, but had clear sailing next to the rail and took the lead at the half, appearing a sure winner in the stretch, but, unexpectedly tired at the end and was probably short. Six Shooter, outrun to the stretch, was coming strongly. Slipthrift got away badly and was messed about to such an extent that he had no chance. Emshée and Whiskey King quit after going a fast half.

Winner—Br. f. by Montana—Isis (trained by J. E. Madden).
Went to post at 4:00. At post 2 minutes. Start straggling. Won handily; second easily. Star of the West, skillfully reserved to the stretch, made good in impressive fashion and ran in remarkably improved form and can beat better ones. Keynote injudiciously waited on the pacemaker to the stretch, where he was outstripped by the winner. Ben Howard held on unusually well in the final stretch drive. Barouche was closing up strongly at the end. Flying Jib, interfered with and a bad last on the backstretch, made up a lot of ground. Decoration fell out of it early. McWilliams showed superior pace for six furlongs. Rigodon and Bernays quit in the last quarter.

Scratched—35454 The Black Scot, 109; 34778 Queen Carnival, 109; 35172 Snark, 109; 35509 Sheriff Bell, 90; 35342 Tom Lawton, 90; 34792 Gates, 90.
Overweights—Decoration, 1 pound; Bernays, 3; Sparklet, 2.

Winner—Ch. g. by Hermencia—Grecia (trained by W. Cahill).

Went to post at 4:25. At post 2 minutes. Start bad. Won easily; second handily. Hermencia indulged the leaders to the middle of the long stretch, where he took the lead without much effort and won in a canter and was much the best. Kalif, nearly left and badly ridden, was easily second best. Numeral made the running under a stout pull for six furlongs and made a poor showing at the wind-up. Major Mansif trailed and made up considerable ground in the last quarter. Lee King, hard held, followed the pacemaker for the first half and then retired as if lacking in condition.
Scratched—34483 Charlie Grainger, 103.
Kalif, show, 1 to 2. Numeral, show, 3 to 10.

Winner—Ch. g. by Flatlands—Lallah (trained by J. W. Pangle).
Went to post at 2:55. At post 6 minutes. Start good. Won driving; second easily. Old Mike worked his way up to the leaders while rounding the far turn, wore them down in the run home and got up in the last few strides. Abel took Gurnsey wide when coming into the homestretch losing several lengths. He made up a lot of ground in the run home and would have won with a better ride. Cormac showed speed but tired in the last quarter. Shepherd ran to his form and had no mishaps. Hop Scotch ran poorly. Little Rita quit.

Overweights—Hop Scotch, 3 pounds.
